

Dear Children's Dream Supporters,

"The most beautiful journey is that of a child to the land of fantasy," does not say I, but Professor Ronald Schmid, who, as a father, lawyer and renowned travel rights expert, certainly knows this very well from several points of view.

But even without an academic title - no matter what school-leaving qualification - we all without exception know, from our own experience, the decisive prerequisite that is necessary after waking up in order to fulfill the most fantastic dream, a life that is as self-determined as possible: Education! Beginning in infancy. At the latest with the day of school enrollment. For us privileged people, this is a matter of course.

Access to education and the will to learn, form the basis of every fantastic journey and life dream fulfillment. So that little dreamers grow up to become inventive children, who in adulthood, can create their lives in an inventive way.

Thanks to education, we are able to help underprivileged children build the foundation of their dreams, which in a fantastic way fulfilled my childhood dream: By building our Saysa Morn School in Cambodia. The whole development story, "How did our school construction actually come about?" can be found here [link].

Since the school opened three years ago, we have been saving together to make more children's dreams come true under the auspices of Child's Dream. Opportunities and projects are numerous: Build a second school; finance a sound education for children, enable vocational training or study. The decision has not been made yet.
